#1 and #2 are the important ones. Is it possible to make them apply to all 3 (or more)? Thanks! A: Your SQL Server Profiler has been hiding or ignoring certain SELECT statements in certain databases. For example, if you are only missing one INSERT and UPDATE statements, but you are missing some SELECT statements as well, you need to add some filters to profile a specific database: Select the "SQL Server Objects" tab from the profiles menu, Right click anywhere on the new monitor and choose "add filter", Add "DATABASE" in the filter list box Select the databases you want to profile Click on the "settings" tab on the top left of the tab, and select "select all" or some other percentage Click OK Repeat steps 2-4 for any remaining profiles This should force the SQL Server Profiler to focus on only those databases. data-label="fig1"}(Figura1.pdf){width="0.75\linewidth"} It is clear that the first step for the LCAO model in this case is to diagonalise \mathbf{H}_0 of the form $\langle \mathbf{H}_0 \mathbf{k} | \mathbf{k} \rangle$, the matrices $S_{\mathbf{k}}$ is a generalisation of $S_{\mathbf{k}}$ in the metallic graphene. In this context, the system of equations in $\langle \mathbf{H}_0 \mathbf{k} | \mathbf{k} \rangle$ can be solved by the diagonalisation of the matrix $S_{\mathbf{k}}$, which contains the reciprocal space directions of all the Feynman processes. The solution is found with the use of $\Lambda_{\mathbf{k}}$ to be $\begin{aligned} S_{\mathbf{k}} &= \Lambda_{\mathbf{k}} \begin{pmatrix} \omega_{\mathbf{k}} & \lambda_{\mathbf{k}} \\ 0 & \lambda_{\mathbf{k}} \end{pmatrix} \Lambda_{\mathbf{k}}^{-1} \end{aligned}$
